

Marvin E. Hobson

2012-2105 BankAtlantic Foundation Endowed Teaching Chair

Marvin E. Hobson, Assistant Professor, Learning Assistance Department, created and established The Zora Neale Hurston Center for Writing Across the Curriculum. This center located, discovered, analyzed, organized and shared discipline and career/job specific writing demands, strategies, and activities while preserving the Zora Neale Hurston legacy of ethnographic writing. This center collaborated with faculty members and businesses to identify ever-changing writing demands within their disciplines/industries, to fortify all student writers within their majors/chosen fields of study, and to strengthen prep student writers as they explore careers.

Hobson joined IRSC in 2007 having received his Bachelor and Master's Degree from the State University of New York at Albany.
