

Tiffany E. Lewis

2013-2015 J. Douglas Stephens Endowed Teaching Chair

Tiffany E. Lewis, Assistant Professor, Learning Assistance Department, created a Flipped Resource Center utilizing “flipping”, a new approach to teaching that presents course content outside of class in a variety of ways and turns class time into a workshop where students explore concepts, apply new knowledge, test their skills and interact through hands-on activities. The Flipped Resource Center offered professional development through workshops, webinars and learning labs for IRSC faculty and future teachers in the IRSC Bachelor’s in Education program to develop instructional videos, lesson plans, and use technology tools that promote learning.

Lewis joined IRSC in 2001 and received her Associate in Arts Degree from Indian River State College, Bachelor’s Degree from Florida A&M University and her Master’s Degree from Nova Southeastern University.
