

Alexis Carlson

2016-2019 Gladys Williams Wolf Endowed Teaching Chair in Communications

Alexis Carlson, Librarian/Assistant Professor, will present a series of workshops and incentives for faculty to learn the benefits of adopting free, open educational resources (OER) in their classrooms in place of costly textbooks. Faculty members will locate and evaluate the best sources of information and work collaboratively to use and share, teaching students how to search for and evaluate the information, while saving considerable expense for textbook purchase.
